LEGAL NOTICE.

The National Finances.

The detailed statement of the Treatury Department, showing the present amount of the national debt, which we published yesterday morning, represents that debt as having amounted on ine 29 h of May to four bendred and benety-one milions. Of this uebt abou', seventy millions existed before the accession of the present administration, leaving about four-hundred and twenty mil-lions as the amount of dobt created in the afficen mouths it has been in power. Our war debt, accordingly, has been accountleting at a rate not exceeding an average of a million a day, a fact in gratifying contrast to the wild statements current during the winter and spring months, that the government was spending two or three millions a day. The national debt on the first of July, the fiscal year, instead of amounting to the enormous sum of twelve hundred millions, months ago, will not exceed five hundred and twenty millions. as it was currently believed it would two

The expenses of the war during the period It is yet to continue will be considerably less than heretofore, even while we keep as large armies on foot. The immense pur-chases of arms, wagons, horses, ships, and other material, which were necessary everything had to be created anow, will not have to be repeated. The pay and sub-sistence of the men will bereafter be the chief burden of the war.

With a close approximation to the amount of the public debt on the first of July, we can estimate the wants of the Treasury for the next fliscal year. The public debt on the first of July will be, say $520,000,000. Of this $150,000,000 will consist of legal tender notes, paying no interest, leaving the amount of interest-drawing debt #370,000,000. The interest on this for the first six months of the fiscal year, at six per cent., will be $11,100,000. During the ensuing six months the debt will have increased probadebt existing on the first of January, $15, 600,000. That is to say, the total interest according on the debt during the next fiscal year will not exceed $30,000 000-an easy, manageable sum if the war should close and the ordinary expenses of the govern-ment be reduced to $100,000,000 within the year .- N. STORY ON A BRAVE BOY - Captain Boggs of the Varuna, tells a story of a brave boy who was on board his vessel during the bombardment of the forts below New Orleans. The lad, who answers to the name of Oscar, is but thirteen years of age, but has an old head on his shoulders, and is alert and energetic. During the hottest of the fire he was engaged in passing ammunition to the gunners, and narrowly escaped death, when one of the broadsides of the Varuna's rebel antagonist was poured in. Covered with dirt and begrimmed with pow-der, he was met by Captain Boggs, who asked "where he was going in such a horry?"
"To get a passing box, sir; the other one was smashed by a ball!" And so throughout the fight the brave boy held his place and did his duty,

When the Varuna went down, the Captain missed his boy, and thought he was among the victims of the battle. But a few minutes afterwards he saw the lad gallantly swimming towards the wreck. Clambering on board of Captain Bogg's boat, he throw his hand up to his forehead, giving the usual Performing the hitherto Luborious and salute, and attering only the words, "All Tiresome Operation of Churning, with right, sir! I report myself on board," passed coolly to his station. So young a lad, so brave and cool in danger, will make himself known as years go over his head.

The Norfolk correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says:

A reconnoitering party on Saturday left the city of Norfolk, intending to move toward Elizabeth City, but the party had scarcely gone five miles when they came upon an intendace earthwork, about four miles long, and mounted with heavy marine guns, and commanding every possible approach to the city from the south and south-east. These works were no doubt constructed for the purpose of repelling an sedvance on the part of General Burnside. The work is, indeed, immense, and thousands of months.
